

Sustainable finance (SRI & ESG)

The use of extra-financial characteristics in the analysis processes of institutional investors has become essential, both to assess the risks to which they are exposed and to identify new investment opportunities.

Cross-functional expertise adapted to emerging needs

Example of an assignment carried out: implementation of internal ESG ratings

Our Added value

- Cross-functional expertise in both risk management and project management for comprehensive support, from the definition of initial expectations to the implementation of the ESG strategy
